

The Whispering Candle

To summon voices from beyond the veil

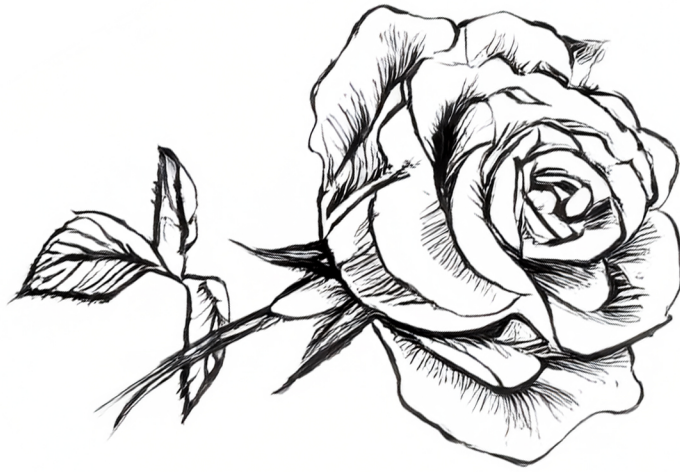

“Light a single candle at midnight.

Place it before a mirror, and whisper the name
you seek three times.

Do not look away until the flame flickers.

When it does, you may hear the answer... but beware what else may listen.”

Potion of Eternal Dusk

Ingredients:

3 drops of raven's ink

A pinch of graveyard soil

Dried petals of a black rose

A fragment of forgotten dreams

Instructions:

Stir in silence under the waning moon.

Drink not — for it is said the potion brews itself inside the shadows.

The Last Room

“They say the old house has one room no one should enter.

The door is locked, yet sometimes it stands ajar.

Inside, the air is colder, and the wallpaper peels like dead skin.

If you stay long enough, you’ll hear breathing.
But no one is there.

And when you leave, you may find the door to your own room... won’t open anymore.”

A Shadow's Lullaby

“Hush now, little soul, don't wake,
The night is deep, the ground may shake.
Footsteps echo, slow and near,
Close your eyes, for they are here.
Dreams will rot, the stars will fade,
Rest in the silence the shadows made.”
